

“I am grateful for the opportunity to work in this industry, serve my clients diligently, and implement creative solutions that are benefiting communities.”

For John, West Michigan has always been home. He’s inspired by the unique individuals who have crafted our city and community into something truly special. Because of this, John not only grew a passion for real estate, but a belief in community involvement. John grew to understand that being involved and having a voice can lead to substantial change. Currently, he is involved with multiple organizations, providing his unique perspective.

As a seasoned real estate professional, with over 23 years of experience, John has set the bar high in the commercial real estate community. With a true passion to see his clients succeed, John has become a leader in the industry here in West Michigan, while representing many firms on their transaction across the country or overseas. He has consistently been a top producer because of his drive, work-ethic, character and deep understanding of the commercial real estate market. He has closed more than $1.25 billion in transactions, representing more than 23 million square feet.

John’s unique abilities include providing clear and simple recommendations on complex situations, understanding the client’s true needs, and ultimately treating each situation as if his personal funds were involved. John, along with the team, would love to earn your business.
