

“Through my career in investment real estate, I have thoroughly enjoyed building relationships with investors from all walks of life and different paths to success.”

Michael’s love for West Michigan is centered around the people. He is regularly impacted by the work ethic, sense of community over individual success, significant untapped potential and economic diversity.

Growing up in West Michigan became an asset for Michael as he began his real estate career. His extensive background in economics and finance allows him to solve complex situations and was instrumental in his desire to get involved in his investment specialty.

Michael understands the complexity and diversity when it comes to investors. Based on his vast knowledge of the West Michigan market, he is able to serve a variety of investors with different paths to success.

His skillset allows him to directly tailor his services to match each personality and specific goals. Michael’s specific niche is transaction closings, creating custom due diligence plans, 1031 exchanges, assisting clients through their various financing situations, and providing a detailed valuation analysis.
