

"I enjoy staying organized and helping the people I work for stay organized as well, achieving their overall goals in my role as an executive assistant."

Charlie was born and raised in West Michigan, a place she proudly calls home. It's a place where all of her immediate family resides, so she has fostered a strong sense of community and connection. West Michigan has a distinctive culture that sets it apart and its residents are incredibly welcoming and friendly. She appreciates that West Michigan is a unique blend of being local, while still offering a wide-range of experiences. Having the opportunity to explore the numerous lakes and beaches, as well as the culinary scene throughout the area are a few things she enjoys.

Charlie plays a vital role as an Executive Assistant at Advantage, where her passion for real estate aligns perfectly with her career path. With a longstanding interest in the industry, Charlie seized the opportunity to work in real estate at just the right moment. In her role, Charlie assists multiple advisors and their clients, making sure tasks are completed and various parts of a transaction are organized. Her innate design to help people is demonstrated clearly through her work, as her tasks have a positive impact on both the advisors and clients that Advantage serves. One of Charlie's key strengths lies in her ability to stay organized, a skill that has been invaluable in supporting the company and clients, ensuring that everyone remains on track to achieve their goals.
