

"I enjoy industrial real estate because it is the backbone of our growing West Michigan economy. It never ceases to amaze me what is manufactured here!"

Having spent his entire life living and working in West Michigan, Trent's enthusiastic attitude and work ethic are ideal for identifying client's needs and skillfully guiding them toward success in their real estate goals. He has built strong personal and professional relationships with his local community and considers being surrounded by like-minded people a blessing. Trent hopes to positively influence others due to the investment others made in his life and career. He is truly proud to call West Michigan home.

Trent has 12 years of experience in commercial real estate and the expertise to meet business' specific needs. His insight as an industrial advisor is unique. Trent enjoys working in the industry because manufacturing is the primary driver of the West Michigan economy. He continues to be amazed at the businesses, ideas, and products manufactured within our local community.

Trent has a client-first approach, customizing his suggestions, insight, expertise, and market knowledge to each individual and business he serves. He has always had a strong ability to develop relationships quickly and adapt to any situation. Trent is a firm believer in being resilient and proactive in order to solve his client's challenges. He has proven to be a forward-thinking advisor and quickly realizes the highest and best solutions for his clients.
