

“The deep values of West Michigan’s people inspire me to work together to build a stronger community.”

Thomas, a native of West Michigan, moved to the Atlantic coast of Florida after his early years in his hometown. There, he completed high school and became involved in luxury yacht services, where he served as both deckhand and captain. Through this experience, he cultivated strong relationships with his clients.

However, Thomas returned to West Michigan, drawn by its sense of community and core values. Fascinated by the local business setting, he transitioned into commercial real estate, eager to serve the unique needs of the area’s entrepreneurs.

Thomas is known for his unwavering work ethic and commitment to his clients. He approaches every challenge with determination, ensuring top-notch service and solutions. With his dedication and passion for West Michigan, Thomas is a trusted partner for businesses navigating the local commercial real estate landscape.
